

San-J does not add any gluten ingredients to San-J Organic Wheat Free Tamari (Gold Label) or Organic Wheat Free Reduced Sodium Tamari (Platinum Label). The alcohol used in these products is derived from corn. San-J is aware of the sensitive nature that exists for celiacs and those who suffer from gluten intolerance. Since our facility processes other products containing wheat, San-J has implemented specific sanitation methods in an effort to prevent cross contamination of wheat in our Organic Wheat Free Tamari and Organic Wheat Free Reduced Sodium Tamari. In addition, we test each batch of Organic Wheat Free Tamari and Organic Wheat Free Reduced Sodium Tamari for the presence of gluten. Samples are also periodically sent to an outside laboratory as a means of confirming the reliability of our tests. Currently, the FDA has not finalized a definition or threshold for the term gluten free nor has it developed a set of rules permitting its use. However, it has proposed a standard of less than 20 ppm for gluten free foods. San-J Organic Wheat Free Tamari and Organic Wheat Free Reduced Sodium Tamari test at less than 5 ppm. San-J Organic Wheat Free Tamari and Organic Wheat Free Reduced Sodium Tamari are made in a plant inspected and certified by the Gluten Free Certification Organization.
